

STUDENT NEWSLETTER: APRIL 22ND 2018

Hi all,

I hope that you have enjoyed the sunny end to the Easter vacation and are looking forward to term starting again! It will be a pretty low-key term, but there will be chances to socialise together and organise for next year even as we finish assignments and exams, and say goodbye to those heading off on new adventures in just a couple of months! See you soon!

Peace, Alex

Student Council AGM

Please come along to the AGM on Thursday to feed-back on this year, vote on how the student community will organise next year and hear thoughts from tutors and your student council team. There will be coffee and cake (and possibly a pub trip afterwards)! Please remember that if you won't be there but want to vote you must send your vote to me by 12noon Thursday.

Rooms for Study

We are all welcome to use empty rooms for study. Please do check with reception, though, in case a room is about to be set up for a class or event, it's not fun if people have to chuck us out!

Colleen - Social Media

We have a new social media co-ordinator in college two days a week. If you would like to meet her with me to chat about options for student social media engagement let me know!

Art Gallery

I would be grateful if people could take their Lent artwork that is displayed in the chapel home. Then, let's make some new art for this term! You could create whatever you are inspired to, but if you're stuck, Easter/Pentecost might be good themes.

Leaver's Music

It has become a (relatively new!) tradition to play leavers' favourite music in the common room after valediction. If you are leaving this year, please send me two or three favourite songs asap so that I can start to put a playlist together.

Feedback

Please do stay in touch and pass your feedback on to me as we prepare to end this year and look forward to the next one.
