Collect for vocation in daily work (BCP, 261)

Almighty God our heavenly Father, you declare your glory and show forth your handiwork in the heavens and in the earth: Deliver us in our various occupations from the service of self alone, that we may do the work you give us to do in truth and beauty and for the common good; for the sake of him who came among us as one who serves, your Son Jesus Christ our Lord, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

Matthew
Plutarch, Life of Alexander 1 (LCL)
It is the life of Alexander the king, and of Caesar, who overthrew Pompey, that I am writing in this book, and the multitude of the deeds to be treated is so great that I shall make no other preface than to entreat my readers, in case I do not tell of all the famous actions of these men, nor even speak exhaustively at all in each particular case, but in epitome for the most part, not to complain. For it is not Histories that I am writing, but Lives… Accordingly, just as painters get the likenesses in their portraits from the face and the expression of the eyes, wherein the character shows itself, but make very little account of the other parts of the body, so I must be permitted to devote myself rather to the signs of the soul in men, and by means of these to portray the life of each, leaving to others the description of their great contests.

Luke 1.1-4 (NRSVA)
Since many have undertaken to set down an orderly account of the events that have been fulfilled among us, just as they were handed on to us by those who from the beginning were eyewitnesses and servants of the word, I too decided, after investigating everything carefully from the very first, to write an orderly account for you, most excellent Theophilus, so that you may know the truth concerning the things about which you have been instructed.

Acts 1.1-2 (NRSVA)
In the first book, Theophilus, I wrote about all that Jesus did and taught from the beginning until the day when he was taken up to heaven, after giving instructions through the Holy Spirit to the apostles whom he had chosen.

Important aspects of the Gospel of Luke

- hymnic material
- theme of reversal
- prominence of women
- prominence of poor
- prominence of Spirit
- Jesus’s calm, manly death
- scope of salvation

Scope of salvation in the Gospel of Luke

- 20+ references to salvation or being saved
- Genealogy: “[Jesus] was the son (as was thought) of Joseph son of Heli… son of Abraham… son of Adam, son of God (3.23-38)”
- Zechariah’s song: Jesus will ‘give knowledge of salvation to [God’s] people by the forgiveness of their sins’ (1.77)
- Jesus engages unexpected people: lepers (5.12-14, 17.11-19), centurion (7.2-10; cf. 23.47), Samaritans (9.52-53), tax collectors (esp. 19.2), condemned criminals (23.39.43)
- Implicit inclusion of gentiles among God’s people (13.28-29, 14.23-24, 19.9)
- ‘repentance and forgiveness of sins is to be proclaimed in [Jesus’s] name to all nations’ (24.47)

Breakout groups

Zechariah’s song
Luke 1.67-79

How does this ‘song’ foreshadow themes that Luke will develop in his gospel?
Zechariah's song

1.67 Then (John's) father Zechariah was filled with the Holy Spirit and spoke this prophecy: 68 'Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, for he has looked favourably on his people and redeemed them. 69 He has raised up a mighty saviour for us in the house of his servant David, 70 as he spoke through the mouth of his holy prophets from of old, 71 that we would be saved from our enemies and from the hand of all who hate us. 72 Thus he has shown the mercy promised to our ancestors, and has remembered his holy covenant, 73 the oath that he swore to our ancestor Abraham, to grant us 74 that we would be saved from our enemies and from the hand of all who hate us. 75 And you, child, will be called the prophet of the Most High; for you will go before the Lord to prepare his ways, 76 to give knowledge of salvation to his people by the forgiveness of their sins. 77 By the tender mercy of our God, the dawn from on high will break upon us, 78 to give light to those who sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace.'
