AIMS AND LEARNING OUTCOMES

3. Educational and Formational Aims

The educational and formational aims of the programme are described in terms of the people for whom it is designed, the pedagogy it embodies and the purpose it is intended to fulfil.

People

The aim of this programme is to equip Christian disciples and ministers to develop as competent and faithful reflective practitioners. To this end it provides an education in theology, ministry and mission in and for a variety of contexts.

1. Preparing people for professional ministry and mission within churches:
Many students will be preparing for recognised lay and ordained ministries in the Anglican, Methodist, Baptist and United Reformed churches. The programmes serve institutions representing Anglican, Methodist, United Reformed, Baptist, Roman Catholic and Orthodox churches, as well as being open to students from other denominations.
2. Preparing people for lay ministry and mission in the world:
The programme also serves those who wish to be more fully equipped for Christian life and service in the world, or simply more informed about the Christian faith. Within this category, some students will be preparing for ministry and mission among children and young people within and beyond ecclesial structures. Typically, students will be preparing for service in third sector and statutory organisations as well as in churches.

The programme aims to offer education that is accessible to students with a wide range of educational backgrounds and professional and personal circumstances: many will be mature students, many will be employed and therefore studying part time, many will be in active ministry, while still others will be pursuing the programme as full time residential students. The programme will therefore be available in a variety of modes of learning and teaching, including traditional full time residential learning, part time and part-residential learning, and distance learning supported by online and face to face engagement.

Pedagogy

The aim of this programme is to provide an education in theology, ministry and mission that encompasses the development of character and the nurturing of virtues and spirituality alongside the acquisition of knowledge and understanding, and the development of cognitive and practical skills. The programme aims to enable students to engage more deeply with themselves, others, the church, the world and God by offering learning and teaching that:

1. form students in various disciplines, but bring those disciplines together to inform and enrich one another;
2. are constantly oriented towards the ministry and mission for which students are being prepared; and
3. by their modes of assessment and methods of learning and teaching enable students to develop as lifelong reflective learners.

Purpose

The purpose of the programme is to offer personal and professional preparation for a range of Christian ministries as well as to satisfy the aspirations of those students who undertake their studies to enhance, broaden and deepen their discipleship and ministry in other contexts.

From a professional point of view, the aim of the programme is to

1. offer pathways of study that contribute to meeting the range of professional and vocational criteria for the public ministries for which students are being prepared;
2. satisfy the aspirations of those students who undertake their studies to enhance, broaden and deepen their discipleship and ministry in other contexts; and
3. provide a firm basis from which to pursue further study in theology, ministry and mission at degree level.

From a personal perspective, the aim of this programme is to develop dispositions that are congruent with, and necessary for, Christian ministry and mission in the church and the world. The aims of the programme are that learners completing the programme will have become

1. open to the questions, insights and ongoing formation generated by attentive study of Scripture, and be willing to go on being transformed by them;
2. aware of the skills and disposition needed to go on reading themselves, the church and the world in the light of Christian doctrine, and to explore Christian doctrine more deeply in the light of experience and practice;
3. deeply aware that they are heirs to a long and complex history, aware of their place in that history alongside many others, and attuned to the work of the Holy Spirit in the church and the world through history and in the present;
4. passionate and prayerful advocates for the mission of God;
5. clearer about their vocation in the church and the world and therefore more determined to pursue personal and corporate lifelong learning as disciples of Christ;
6. open to the insights and challenges that emerge from serious engagement and cooperation with others, in and beyond the church.

The Dip HE offers a rich variety of subjects taught by a wide range of teachers. Many subjects are team-taught by teachers from across the Cambridge Theological Federation but some draw on the talents of people with expertise from outside the Federation. The course incorporates a variety of modes of learning and teaching, including full-time and part-time residential, term-time, block week, and some online learning.

6. Summative Assessment Methods

Summative assessment (coursework for credit) may take the form of essays, portfolios, presentations, and assessed conversations.

STRUCTURE OF THE PROGRAMME

11. Outline syllabus for the programme

Total credits overall:	Minimum credits at Level 5:	Maximum credits at Level 4:
240 credits	90 credits	150 credits

This programme may be studied full time over two years or part time over three or four years.

At Level 4	At Level 5
At least 20 Credits from each of these categories: Biblical Studies Christian Tradition Ministry and Mission	At least 20 Credits from each of these categories: Biblical Studies Christian Tradition Ministry and Mission
At least 10 credits from the category: Theological Reflection and Reflective Practice	At least 10 credits from the category: Theological Reflection and Reflective Practice

At Level 4 students are introduced to the core areas of subject specific knowledge, namely biblical studies, the Christian tradition and ministerial theology. The modules at this level offer a survey of subject specific knowledge to enable students to progress to level 5 within a clear framework for further study of theology, ministry and mission. Students are also introduced to the subject specific skill of relating their knowledge to experience and practice in the context of mission and ministry. This might take place in direct relation to the student's practical formation, or in interdisciplinary modules with a professional and/or denominational focus, or in other ways. In addition, students are introduced to the subject specific skill of theological reflection.

At level 5 students study the core subject areas at greater depth. The depth of study may take the form of a more focused area of subject specific knowledge and/or a more deeply contextual approach to an area of subject specific knowledge. Students will also broaden their study, for example ensuring that by the end of the level students will have engaged with a range of texts from both Old and New Testaments. Subject areas that were studied as interdisciplinary modules with a professional and/or denominational focus at level 4 will continue to be studied in this mode, embodying a 'spiral' approach that enables increasing depth of learning in these subject areas.

Students will continue to hone subject specific skills at a higher and more critical level, engaging with more complex situations related to their profession and/or practice either through a short-term placement, through work-based learning or through a sustained placement that lasts throughout the student's programme of study.

In addition students will have the opportunity to study specialist subjects in areas such as inter faith engagement, environmental theology and education, or to specialise further in a subject area. Students may offer an independent study module and/or an integrative learning module that further enhances the breadth of study available to them.

At one or both levels, the programme offers students the opportunity to engage with their profession and/or practice either through short-term placements, through work-based learning or through a sustained placement that lasts throughout the student's year or programme of study.

12. Indicate which modules are pre- / co-requisites within the programme

There are no pre-requisites for this single level programme.

13. Typical Admissions Requirements

Entry to this programme is flexible, depending on the student's experience, employment and education. In general, applicants – especially those with little or no employment history – would normally have at least two A-levels (Grade E or above) or equivalent. However, for mature students, relevant work experience may be considered in lieu of formal academic qualifications. Applicants will need to demonstrate their potential to benefit from a Diploma (HE) in Theology, Ministry and Mission.

In general, up to a maximum of 80 credits of accredited prior learning may be granted to students who have evidence of, or can demonstrate learning that fulfills the relevant learning outcomes of the Diploma programme (by completing a portfolio of work, for example).

Students who have successfully completed the Diploma are eligible to apply to continue to the BA(Hons) in Theology, Ministry and Mission programme.

Students for whom English is their second language should have achieved a score of 6.5 with no component under 6.0 in an IELTS examination, or equivalent.

Each TEI has an Admissions Policy and is responsible for proposing its own specific entry requirements, in line with the generic entry requirements for Common Awards.
